GOV. AL SMITH RIDING HIGH ON CREST OF BOOM

Passes Underwood as McAdoo Rival.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HEWING.
New York, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—The newest thing political in these parts is the earnest bidding of Gov. Al Smith for the Democratic nomination for President.

The movement has been growing ever since the Democratic national committee voted to hold the national convention in New York city, despite the fact that supporters of William G. McAdoo nominally numbered more than a majority of the committee and that the McAdoo managers preferred any city to New York, the stronghold of the work, of big business, and of Tammany.

With this triumph the anti-McAdoo leaders took new hope. Whether selection of New York was due to lack of management in the McAdoo camp, or lack of sufficient nerve to send the convention to San Francisco, captains of the opposition began to say to each other that what they had accomplished on a small scale in the committee might be able to accomplish on a large scale in the convention.

All Fighting McAdoo.
So all the anti-McAdoo Democrats in this part of the country, though committed to different aspirants to the nomination, are converging toward a single objective but McAdoo, selected to the convention with the understanding they will go behind the candidate who offers the greatest promise of giving Mr. Wilson, son-in-law his political quills.

It may be that in pursuance of this contemplated tactics, Gov. Smith, Senator Underwood (Ala.), Gov. Miller of New Jersey, and John W. Davis of West Virginia, former American ambassador to Great Britain, will be tried out for each other in the convention, for to tamper with the convention, now, of all the anti-McAdoo contingent the blindest, bluntest, and cockiest are the Al Smith boosters. They are actually beginning to think that they may be able "to put it over."

The governor has emerged from the favorite son class and has moved to the front as the strongest candidate for the nomination.

Tammany Moves for Al.
Tammany is making plans to stage a demonstration for Smith in the convention, the like of which has never been seen or heard before. The chorusing of the sidewalks of New York in the San Francisco convention, where Al was only a favorite son, will be recalled as an extremely successful performance when Tammany cuts loose.

In addition to the ninety delegates of New York, Smith, his friends contemplate, will have on the crucial roll call the votes of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Ohio, a total of 112, or 218 short of the requisite two-thirds majority.

The governor is now generally regarded as having edged ahead of Underwood as the outstanding opponent of McAdoo. Smith is a Catholic and Underwood is a southerner and tradition in the Democratic party always has decreed against the nomination of either. In view, however, of the phenomenal vote garnering qualifications of Smith, the party might elect it safe to ignore tradition in his case.

RADICAL WEEKLY, THE FREEMAN, TO QUIT BUSINESS

New York, Jan. 24.—Abandonment on March 5, after four years of publication, of the Freeman, an independent radical weekly, was announced today by E. W. Huebner, Inc., the publishers.

The reason given for the step was "a successful conclusion of an experiment" and emphasis was laid on the fact that the magazine retired at the highest point of its circulation.

NEW ZERO SPELL SPEEDS THIS WAY

The government forecaster got out his muller again last night. Unimpressed by yesterday's high thermometer reading of 21 degrees, he took a wary look at the reports from Seattle, Alaska, and points nearer by.

"There'll be a big fall in temperature Friday," predicted the forecaster, C. A. Donnel. "It should be down to zero by Saturday morning. I can't tell yet whether the weather will be some more severe than that, but the snow spell should last over the week-end."

62 Below in Alaska.

This latest attack of frigidity is catalogued as an offshoot of the cold wave which stalled local thermometers in the face several days ago—before yesterday's thaw stepped in to prepare the streets for skating. That cold wave came direct from Alaska, where the town of Eagle is reporting 62 degrees below zero. Its playful little offshoot was blowing its stuff to Minnesota and the Dakotas last night, and getting closer to Chicago every minute.

Two Landlords Fined.

Michael Fottighiere chose to go to jail rather than pay the $150 fine imposed by Municipal Judge Finnegan for failing to supply sufficient heat in his building at 717 South Ashland avenue. Tenants were forced to use gas ovens to keep warm, and two cases of sickness were attributed to the chill.

FALL, BROKEN IN BODY AND SPIRIT, ARRIVES TO FACE ACCUSERS

Washington, Jan. 24.—[United News.]—Broken in body and in spirit, Albert R. Fall came back to Washington tonight to face his former associates in the senate and explain why he had as to where he got his $100,000 loan while secretary of the interior.

He arrived from New Orleans shortly before midnight and was taken to the home of J. W. Zevely, St. Clair's confidential representative here.

Full presented a pathetic figure as he arrived in the dead of night in a cold, January drizzle. He left the train with Zevely, with whom he has traveled from New Orleans. A crowd of newspaper reporters were at the depot to question him—only to find that the capital where he has served so many years as senator, cabinet officer and confidant of presidents.

Brushes Reporters Aside.

Brushing by the newspaper men, he got into the Zevely automobile and was driven rapidly to the old man's home in the fashionable Connecticut avenue section. At Zevely's house, Fall was surrounded by reporters again.

TESTIFIES THAT OIL LEASE WAS NOT A FACTOR

Old Friendship Sole Motive, He Says.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Edward L. Doheny, multimillionaire oil magnate and beneficiary of the naval California oil lease, was the man who loaned Albert R. Fall, former secretary of the interior, the mysterious $100,000 which Mr. Fall used to enlarge and improve his New Mexico ranch.

Mr. Doheny, as a voluntary witness, made this disclosure today before the Teapot Dome investigating committee. His testimony furnished a dramatic and startling climax to a series of sensational revelations in the constantly growing scandal over the leasing of the naval oil reserves.

Lease Signed After Loan.

The loan was made by Mr. Doheny to Mr. Fall while the latter was secretary of the interior on Nov. 30, 1921. Later Mr. Fall, as secretary of the interior, signed the lease turning over to Mr. Doheny the immensely valuable naval oil reserve No. 1 in California.

With the utmost candor Mr. Doheny reiterated today that he expected to make at least $100,000 out of the lease. He insisted, however, with the greatest emphasis that both he and Mr. Fall were gullible of any wrongdoing in the transaction and through his counsel offered to restore the lands to the government if the transaction proves to have been wrongfully negotiated.

The note is still unpaid and unsecured. No interest rate has ever been fixed and no interest has been paid. Mr. Doheny thinks he can produce the note after he searches his private papers in New York tomorrow.

In Embarrassing Position.

Doheny's testimony has left Mr. Fall in a most embarrassing and hampered position. In the opinion of members of the committee, he will be asked to explain why he first told the committee that he got the $100,000 from Edward B. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher, and why on Dec. 27 he made a statement to the committee in which he said:

"It should be needless for me to say that in the purchase of Harco ranch or in any other purchase or expenditure I have never approached E. L. Doheny or any one connected with him or any of his corporations or Mr. H. F. Sinclair or any one connected with him or any of his corporations, nor have I ever received from either of said parties any cash or account of any oil lease or any other account whatsoever."

Offers to Return Lease.

While insisting he was innocent of any wrongdoing, Mr. Doheny nevertheless came forward with an offer to return his lease to the government under certain stipulations. He would have the President appoint an impartial commission of experts to investigate the transaction, and, if it finds that the lease was "not wise, desirable, and advantageous to the government," he will return it.

Britain Picks First Envoy to Red Russia

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 24.—[Tribune Radio.]—The first act of the new Social list government will be the recognition of Russia. Prime Minister MacDonald was at work at the foreign office today, acquainting himself with the British claims against Russia and outlining the terms which may be demanded if it is decided to make recognition conditional.

Mr. MacDonald's report, however, that Mr. MacDonald proposes to recognize Russia unconditionally, and that he will take the claims up afterwards through diplomatic channels.

James O'Grady, a member of parliament, has been selected as the first ambassador to soviet Russia. He has visited Russia several times since the revolution. He negotiated the exchange of Russian and British war prisoners with Maxim Litvinoff in Copenhagen in 1920. Mr. O'Grady spent several hours at the foreign office today in conference with Sir Eyre Crowe.

Two Union Leaders Get Jobs.

It was officially announced tonight that Mr. MacDonald has appointed as minister of transport Harry Gosling, secretary of the transport workers of Great Britain, and Frank Hodges, general secretary of the miners' federation, as civil lord of the admiralty. Mr. MacDonald also has appointed as his private secretary Sir Ronald Waterhouse, who was private secretary to Stanley Baldwin and Andrew Bonar Law.

Business Men Rally to MacDonald.

Bankers and business men are still rallying to the support of the new government. Walter Leaf, chairman of the Westminster bank, speaking at an annual meeting today, said the people who were selling out their sterling securities in order to invest in American stocks stood to lose just as much in American investments as they would through a capital levy. He said there was no reason for any panic and that the British position was stronger than ever.

Deadlocked on Strike.

The strike has already added approximately 165,000 to Great Britain's staggering roll of unemployed. For each striker two men in other trades have been thrown out of work and additional stoppages in mines and factories are expected daily because of lack of empty cars and coal. The price of coal has risen 25 a ton in Edinburgh, but the quotations have not been changed in London.

Flights for Peace.

Hundreds of men and women fought their way into the courtroom where they heard the negotiations for each new detail, eager not to miss even a word that Mrs. Leland spoke privately to Harold, her 17 year old son, who tried not to be puzzled by the whole affair.

Her Fate Due to Fall.

Her fate, she later analyzes it, is the result of supreme faith in her husband, and the knowledge that "God has me by the hand. He will not desert me in time of adversity."

PLOT TO HUSH SCANDAL LAID TO CHURCHMEN

Wife Sane, Report of Alienist.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Albert R. Leland, former deacon in the First Baptist church of Oak Park, spent most of yesterday as a witness in Judge Charles M. Foell's court, and sobbed out details of a "plot" concocted by his fellow deacons.

Leland charged the deacons with trying to bribe him to say that his "repentant but loving wife," Charlotte, was insane; that they tried to induce him to whitewash his pastor, the Rev. Carl D. Case, of complicity in Mrs. Leland's confessed misconduct. Leland said he was even urged to get out of the church and leave this neighborhood.

Accused Wife Present to Testify.

And from her seat down in the jammed courtroom, Mrs. Leland, through prayers and sobs and nods, united legally with her accusing husband in a strange effort to prove true the charges against her and the popular minister named as the co-conspirator in the Leland suit. The hearing was on the divorce case, requested by Judge Foell on request of Dr. Case, who seeks to prove his innocence.

Although suffering from a collapse which came at the end of yesterday's ordeal of calm, Mrs. Leland will take the stand early this morning. She will be supported, she said, by the "deacon" who she is "telling the truth," and by the comfort of "God who is with me."

And she will tell everything, she promises, in order to make the pastor, who she and her husband accuse as "equally guilty," suffer equally.

And the husband, in order that he may do his duty to "my church and my denomination," took the stand and moaned out an inarticulate threat to "drive Dr. Case out of the ministry."

Free of Delusions.

And so Mrs. Leland smiles, with quiet exultance when an alienist from the stand declares that the committee "is equally guilty," suffer equally.

DOHENY TESTIFIES OF $100,000 LOAN TO FALL

OIL LEASE NOT FACTOR, HE TELLS SENATE BODY

Gave "Bagatelle" to Help an Old Friend.

myself that that was a hint to me and I gladly took it. I told him I had never seen him before. He called me on the telephone from Washington when I was in New York and told me he was ready to accept a loan for $100,000.

Fall said in Cash.

"I wrote a check for $100,000 and had it cashed at my bankers, Blair & Co. My son put it in a satchel and took it to Washington the next day or so."

Members of the committee expressed astonishment at the apparent generosity of this transaction, but Mr. Doherty insisted it was usual enough.

"Why, I have remitted nearly a million dollars in that way during the last few years," he exclaimed.

"A hundred thousand dollars is a mere bagatelle to me. It is no more to me than a loan of $25 or $50 would be to the man of ordinary means."

"If I had wanted to lend him a million dollars, I could have done so without the slightest inconvenience."

Doherty told the committee that in New Orleans he had told Fall he was going to tell the whole story.

"Mr. Fall said it was perfectly all right," Doherty said. "The only question was whether he should do it or whether I should. It was finally decided that I should."

"Mr. Doherty insisted that Fall had little to do with the negotiation of the lease, but members of the committee quickly confronted him with much contradictory evidence. Senator Leavelle (Rep., Wis.) called his attention to the fact that the lease of Dec. 12, 1922, was signed by Fall.

Signed $100,000 Lease.

"And that is the lease from which you, Mr. Doherty, received $100,000," asked Senator Leavelle.

"Yes," admitted Doherty.

Members of the committee asked Doherty why he did not tell the story of the $100,000 when he was on the witness stand more than a month ago.

That time Senator Walsh (Dem., Ind.) pointed out, "the finger of suspicion pointed at Mr. Fall," and Mr. Doherty felt much enraged that his integrity should be assailed.

"Mr. Doherty said he felt that it was Fall's business to tell the story, but added: 'I advised Fall that to make a clean breast of the whole story. On Jan. 9 or 1 I told Harold Walker to tell Fall and urge him to do so. I believe Walker did.'"

HAS SPENT $32,000,000.

Doherty said he expected to spend $100,000,000 in getting the oil lease of Naval Reserve No. 1. He has already spent about $32,000,000, he said.

In answer to questions by Senator Walsh (Dem., Wash.), Doherty said no part of interest had ever been paid on the $100,000 note.

"That was left blank for me to fill in later," he said. Members of the committee questioned him concerning the whereabouts of the note. He said he had carried it in his pocket for a while and thought he had taken it to Los Angeles with him, but search there failed to locate it. He expressed belief it would find in New York.

Senator Leavelle asked him if he thought his testimony did not reflect on Fall.

"Not as bad as the previous disclosure about his getting the loan from Leavelle," answered Doherty.

"Do you consider that there was any impropriety about lending money as an official of the government with whom you had large business dealings

SINCLAIR NOT ASKED TO APPEAR BEFORE DOME INQUIRY BODY

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.)

PARRIS, Jan. 24.—Harry Sinclair, American oil magnate involved in the Teapot Dome scandal, late tonight received no request from American to return to testify before the senate committee, and he refused to indicate what he will do if such a request arrives.

The oil man received a flood of cables and queries today and adopted a policy of secrecy as regards public statements. He said he had no statement to add to yesterday's except to deny reports which he says have been printed in the American press as emanating from him—notably the supposed statement that he would not return to America even if the senate begged him to do so, and another statement that he was planning to return quickly and secretly to Washington.

which might put him under obligation to you," asked Senator Leavelle.

"No," answered Doherty.

Secretary of the Navy Denby's part in the transaction was the subject of considerable questioning. Doherty contended that Mr. Denby suggested the terms of the lease from which he expects to make $100,000,000. Senator Walsh produced the record to show that Denby had testified he knew nothing about the lease.

Smart Gave Him Note.

Mr. Doherty was then asked about a note Senator Smart (Rep., Utah) handed him as he entered the committee room. He searched his pockets, then produced the paper torn into fragments.

"It said, 'After you appear before the committee I would like to see you in my room,'" he explained.

The committee tomorrow will hear Col. J. W. Zevely, counsel for Harry P. Sinclair, who holds the Teapot Dome lease. Zevely arrived in Washington from New Orleans in company with Fall tonight.

Oil Magnate's Statement.

Mr. Doherty's statement, read to the committee, follows:

"I have been following the reports of the proceedings before your committee, and have concluded that notwithstanding my authorization to ex-Secretary Fall early in December to state the full and complete facts in connection with a personal transaction between me and Mr. Fall, and my effort to keep my name out of the discussion for the reason that a full statement might be misunderstood."

"Whether there is a possibility of such misunderstanding or not, I wish to state to the committee and to the public the full facts, and I may say here that I regret that when I was before your committee I did not tell you what I am now telling you."

Statement Not Pertinent.

"I did not do so for the reason that such a statement was not pertinent in answer to any of the questions asked me by members of the committee and have done so would have been violating something in no way connected with the contracts made with the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company."

"When asked by your chairman whether Mr. Fall has profited by the contract, directly or indirectly, I answered in the negative. That answer I now reiterate."

"I wish first to inform the committee that on the 30th day of November, 1921, I loaned Albert B. Fall $100,000 on his promissory note to enable him to purchase a ranch in New Mexico."

"This sum was loaned to Mr. Fall by me personally. It was my own money and did not belong in whole or in part to any oil company with which I am or have been connected. In connection with this loan, there was no discussion between Mr. Fall and myself as to any contract whatever."

"This loan had no relation to any of the subsequent transactions. The transactions themselves in the order in which they occurred, dispose of any contention that they were influenced by my making a personal loan to a long friend."

"The reason for my making and Mr. Fall's accepting the loan was that we had been friends for more than thirty years. He had invested his savings for those years in his home ranch in New Mexico, which I understood was all that remained to him after the failure of mining investments in Mexico and nine years of public service in Washington, during which he could not properly attend to the management of his ranch."

At this point the witness told of various misfortunes of Mr. Fall and said that in his effort to recuperate his fortune the decision to acquire the Harris ranch amounted to an desperate gamble."

It was then, Mr. Doherty said, that he offered to lend money for this purpose, an offer which Mr. Fall took advantage of later.

MADE LOWEST BID

Mr. Doherty continued:

"The case on naval reserve No. 1 was the direct outgrowth of the contract which the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company made with the navy as a result of competitive bids, in which that company was the lowest bidder, for the construction of certain storage facilities and the furnishing of fuel oil at Pearl Harbor, T. H., and in the absence of that contract the lease would never have been executed."

"The navy department, through its representative, took up with us the question of constructing the improvements and facilities at Pearl Harbor and of paying for them with the royalty oil which the navy was then obtaining from the various leases in naval reserve Nos. 1 and 2, and of filling the tanks constructed with a large quantity of fuel oil."

"I was entirely in sympathy with the purposes of the navy, the reasons for which have perhaps been better explained to your committee by the navy's representative, Admiral Robison than I could hope to do. I promised Admiral Robison that our company would at least submit a bid to perform the work under those conditions; that is, furnish the money to pay for the work of construction at the harbor and of filling the tanks with oil and receive in return royalty oil at the posted field price to the value of the money so expended."

No Favor to Company.

"The incidents up to the date of the contract were such that the contract was let on competitive bidding, eliminating any possibility of favor to the company by either the navy department or the interior department."

Mr. Doherty then pointed out that all negotiations were carried on between the company's attorney in Washington and the president and general manager of the California company, who he said, at one time advised against the contract, believing it too great a risk for the company.

"Neither our Washington attorney, the witness went on, nor our California general manager, nor any other officer or attorney of the company had any knowledge of the loan which I made to Mr. Fall, that being an entirely private matter, involving in no way the company's funds."

Doherty Bid Lowest.

"When the bids were opened it was found that the bid the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company was the lowest. The Washington attorney of the company had conceived the idea of making, in accordance with the provisions of the call for bids, in addition to an unqualified bid, an alternative bid showing a considerable saving to the government in the actual cost of the construction under the contract, and recompense to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company for such waiver of profits by giving it an opportunity later on to extend its petroleum business in California through the acquisition of additional oil territory whenever the navy might be disposed to make additional contracts for the development of its reserve."

The alternative bid was considered the most favorable by the representatives of the government as is shown by a letter addressed to the Washington attorney of the company under date of April 25, 1922, and signed in the absence of Mr. Fall from Washington by the acting secretary of the interior and the secretary of the navy."

At this point Mr. Doherty read the letter, which details the two proposals and delineates the land to be leased and describes technically the royalties to be paid to the government."

DENIES COLLUSION

"These facts conclusively demonstrate," Mr. Doherty went on, "that there could not have been any collusion between the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company and anybody whatsoever."

"The original contract provided for an expenditure by the company of $4,466,785.50, which amount, reduced through economies made by the company in its construction work and its purchase of fuel oil by about $235,000, which together with the sum of $335,000, the difference between the company's unqualified bid and its alternative bid, amounts to $760,000. To this might fairly be added the sum of $100,000 by which the sum of the company's qualified bid was lower than its competitors' bid, thus making the contract an extremely advantageous one for the government, as before stated, uncertain in its benefits to the company."

Fuel Oil Delivered.

"In addition, the government has received under a provision of the contract, the benefit of a decline of 50 cents per barrel in the purchase of fuel oil furnished it, amounting to about $28,000. The construction work under this contract is practically completed and the fuel oil has been delivered into the tanks at Pearl Harbor."

"Later in the year 1923, and nearly a year after I had made the loan to Mr.

Fall, the navy department, desiring additional storage facilities and petroleum products at Pearl Harbor, requested that the original contract of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company be supplemented or that a new contract be made providing for the additional work and supplies, as is shown by the letter of the secretary of the navy dated Nov. 22, 1923."

Objected to Contract.

This, he said, resulted in further negotiations in which the president of the California company objected to the contract in that the company would not receive benefits commensurate with the risks assumed. The witness said that tankage contracts totaled $3,017,000. About $1,000,000 of this already has been expended, he said.

"This contract gave to the navy just that service from the naval reserves that the navy department through its acting engineer head desired, which was immediate availability of its anticipated productions, delivered where the navy wanted it, at the time it wanted it, in such quantities as were needed, and of the character and quality which the navy's requirements called for."

"The contract also gave the option to the navy of purchasing at the company's terminal station at San Pedro such petroleum supplies as the navy may require at 10 per cent below the market price."

"In closing, I wish to state that I left Los Angeles on Jan. 17, to come to Washington to present a statement of all the facts to the committee, and having been informed that Mr. Fall was in New Orleans took that route in order to arrive him of my intentions and found him already in entire accord with my purpose."

Take Haley's M-O for Your Stomach's Sake

Milk of Magnesia combined with pure Mineral Oil

Too much food, not enough exercise—that's the curse of modern civilization, the cause of acidosis and constipation which bring on most sickness.

Acidosis and constipation go hand in hand. If your stomach's upset, if you feel bad in the morning, get up with that dark brown taste, belch, see black specks dancing before your eyes, stop it the first drug store you come to and ask for a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil.

Haley's will fix you up in a hurry because it goes straight to the seat of the trouble. The milk of magnesia neutralizes the acids that form in the stomach and intestines and the mineral oil overcomes the constipation, ridding the body of the dangerous waste poison.

There is nothing about Haley's Magnesia-Oil to harm the youngest infant or the oldest adult. Non-habit forming, it contains no drugs or narcotics.

Start taking Haley's M-O tonight. You'll feel a lot better in the morning. All druggists—trial size, 35c; family size $1.00. The Haley M-O Company, Indianapolis, Ind.

SAFER CHURCHES, HOSPITALS, TOO, PLAN OF DEVER

Backs Fire Department's Crusade.

Churches, as well as theaters, hospitals, schools, and other public buildings will be required to comply strictly with fire prevention and building safety ordinances, Mayor Dever declared yesterday.

Already fire prevention bureau inspectors have acted to halt moving picture presentations under improper conditions in church auditoriums. It became known as the mayor extended his survey of possible hazards to include church buildings.

Find Chairs in Aisle.

Inconveniently located exits, sometimes locked during services, and dangerous stairways have been discovered throughout the city. Inspectors assigned to duty on Sundays have observed persistent violation of ordinances which require aisles to be kept clear of chairs.

As with the numerous hospitals which have been found in poor condition, the mayor proposes to give the churches an opportunity to comply with the law before taking drastic steps to prevent use of the buildings.

Some Hospitals Dangerous.

"There are hospitals in this town that are a positive menace to human life," declared the mayor. "Still, I cannot order them closed peremptorily and throw the sick persons on to the sidewalk."

"I can and will, however, do this. I will propose to the proper committee ordinances prohibiting the use of frame structures for hospital purposes. Such an ordinance might become effective after hospitals now housed in such buildings have had ample time to find new and safe quarters."

Realtors and theater owners with "influential" friends, seeking exemption from penalties or closing orders issued because of "minor infractions" of the code, were referred by the mayor to John C. McDonnell, chief of the fire prevention bureau.

Where Influence Steps.

Least McDonnell might be averted by the "influential" friends, the mayor summoned that official to his office.

"I am going to expect you to exert every power at your command to force obedience to these life saving measures," the mayor told McDonnell. "From time to time I expect to receive howls from politicians and others because of your acts, but I will back you to the hilt as long as you discriminate in favor of the law only."

"Make your mistakes, if you must make them, on the side of safety. Don't sacrifice a single human life. There will be no 'bustup' order come from me. Take no orders from any one and pay no attention to threats or promises. Let the law and your conscience be your sole guides."

Churches Under Regulation.

UNREST IN PHILIPPINES

Disturbances are reported in the southern Philippines. Two hundred and eighty natives have attacked a sugar plantation in Negros island. The Americans are holding them off. A detachment from an American gunboat escorted the island of Bucas and routed armed fanatics there.

Nine Dutch sailors were killed by two Moros and nineteen wounded when two natives ran amuck off Celebes. Malays are subject to a sort of insanity that gives them a mania for killing. They call it "amok," and the victim runs and slays until he himself is killed. One crazy native often sweeps up a whole community into a frenzy, until the lives of nearby white people are not safe.

MRS. GERRY BUYS CZARINA'S $400,000 PEARL NECKLACE

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The pearl necklace brought to this country by Prince Felix Youssouf of Russia and sold to be the most perfectly matched string in the world has been sold. It was learned today, to Mrs. Peter Gerry of Washington for a price believed to be $400,000.

The transaction, it was disclosed, was conducted through Carter & Co., jewelers of 5th avenue, New York, and Paris. Friends of Mrs. Gerry said that she appeared at a social function in New York Wednesday wearing the necklace.

Since the arrival of Prince Youssouf-off in this country on the Berengaria on Nov. 23 it has been assumed that he brought the necklace with him. There have been constant rumors of its sale, but these have lacked confirmation.

It was part of a magnificent collection of jewelry which included some emeralds from the crown of the czar. The group brought by Prince Youssouf-off alone was said to be valued at $1,000,000, and it was cleared through the customs office here only after careful examination.

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
MANILA, Jan. 24.—Aided by a machine gun barrage from the United States gunboat Sacramento, 100 members of the constabulary under Col. C. H. Bowers landed at Bucas island at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and charged the trenches of the Colorums, religious fanatics, who have been running amuck. One member of the constabulary was killed, while the Colorum loss is unknown. Two dead and two wounded were found.

Col. Bowers immediately boarded the Sacramento after burning a Colorum town, Socorro, fearing that bad weather would force the gunboat from the coast.

Filipinos Raid Plantation.
Col. Bowers immediately boarded the Sacramento after burning a Colorum town, Socorro, fearing that bad weather would force the gunboat from the coast.

The Americans, including Charles Locey, manager; Charles Koche, assistant; and Mr. Carmichael, the superintendent, are standing pat. Koche was assaulted by two men on Jan. 18.

Moros Terrorize Boat.
The constabulary reports that two Moros from Siam island, Mindanao, ran amuck and killed nine Dutch sailors and wounded nineteen others on board a Dutch vessel which carried passengers. The two Moros then jumped overboard, but Dutch sailors killed them while they were swimming.

Both Moros were followers of Panglima Sapudin, a Moro chieftain, heading a fishing party off the Celebes. While there Sapudin's men had an altercation with natives who wounded two Moros. The latter were taken by Dutch sailors to their ship. Recovering from their wounds the men ran amuck.

Chief Sapudin and his band were arrested by the Dutch as accomplices in the crime, but Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood intervened and secured their release and return to Mindanao.

KORETZ WORDS TO GIRL IN INDIA READ IN COURT

Intercepted messages by radio, telegraph and cable were produced before Referee Harry Parkin yesterday in the bankruptcy case involving the missing Leo Koretz. The messages, many in endearing terms, were addressed to Miss Jessie Taggart, who formerly shared a safe deposit box with Koretz here. Miss Taggart now is in India, but there is nothing to show Koretz has gone there, although the messages indicate she expects him. He had been sending her money.

WAR GAME BACKS FREDERICK STOCK TRIBUNE PLEA TO OFFERED BATON IN PHILADELPHIA

Umpires Find Canal Open to Bombing.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
COLON, Panama Canal Zone, Jan. 24.—Following the momentous naval and military maneuvers held here the conclusion reached today by the umpires after four days of intensive conference is that the Panama canal is open to aircraft.

It was definitely shown last week that the Blue (hostile) fleet is attempting to make an exit to the Atlantic side are bad.

It was definitely shown last week that the Blue (hostile) fleet is attempting to make an exit to the Atlantic side are bad.

Regarding the present installations, the garrison here, numbering 1,000, is trying to do the work of 12,000. Consequently fewer than one-third of the guns are adequately manned. The maintenance of an adequate peace time garrison will cost $10,000,000 annually. The experts earnestly recommend that estimate.

Need Long Range Guns.
The principal recommendation urges the expenditure of $15,000,000 for long range guns, already available as the result of world war manufacture. "It is perfectly useless," however, to lay down a large and costly armament here and then not fully man it."

Aircraft require a substantial increase, and it is of high importance that the fleet's guns be given an elevation placing them on an equality with the guns of the other powers.

Prey of Any Audacious Power.
All these large conclusions thoroughly validate The Tribune's editorial insistence uttered long ago. It is no panicky statement but is now official to say that the nation's greatest strategic asset today is the potential prey of almost any audacious and ingenious power.

It transpires that the canal will soon be bridged, long deferred plans to that end now being accepted by all concerned.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 24.—Philadelphia is attempting to get Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, to lead the Philadelphia orchestra.

Mr. Stock held a two hour conference with Edward Bok here last week, following his phenomenal success as guest conductor in Philadelphia. Mr. Bok is one of the principal financial backers of the orchestra here.

The present leader of the Philadelphia orchestra is Dr. Leopold Stokowski, who has received an offer of $70,000 a year to direct a New York orchestra.

Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, a member of the women's executive committee of the Philadelphia orchestra, admitted tonight at her home that Mr. Stock had been summoned by Mr. Bok.

A new and vastly better mineral oil

Scientifically iodinated, it is an internal antiseptic as well as lubricant.

Pure mineral oil is fine for constipation, within certain limits. But it lacks one important essential. It is powerless to neutralize poisons in the intestine, an after-effect of constipation. Now science has remedied this lack. In McKENZIE'S Antiseptic Mineral Oil. It is iodinated, a new discovery. Doctors now prescribe it for young and old.

McKENZIE'S is simply purest liquid petroleum, combined with active germ-killing properties. No other oil is like it. It passes unabsorbed through the stomach, cleanses the bowels gently and thoroughly, heals and soothes the sensitive membrane of the intestine, and counteracts germs and intestinal poisons. You are taking ordinary mineral oil, try McKENZIE'S and see the difference.

Get McKENZIE'S at your druggist's. Stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, gas, headaches—all the ailments caused by constipation—vanish before its use. Get a bottle today. It is guaranteed to break your constipation habit in five days or money back.

LEWIS' DEFENSE
DRAWS CHEERING
MINERS TO HIMUnion Defeats Motion to Resist Warfare.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Clutching in one hand a copy of a paper named the Progressive Miner, containing charges that he had betrayed the union and in the other the "check-off" to the anthracite miners, International president John L. Lewis defended himself in a fiery address this afternoon and drew from the delegates at the annual convention of the United Mine Workers' convention one of the most dramatic omissions ever recorded.

Deep silence came at the end of his address, then a burst of handclapping, and then yells and shouts.

$14,000,000 Wage Boost.

"You can't go into the anthracite mines and tell those men that they were betrayed," President Lewis said. "They will tell you that John J. Lewis is a man who will do anything for the $14,000,000 a year. That's what the 100,000 of them got in wage increases because of that conference, at which I am charged with selling them out."

"I hold in my hand a copy of the Progressive Miner telling how I betrayed the union. It was published and distributed at great cost. Who sponsored it? Who is responsible?" "One of them sits named you. William A. Guiler, and named with him are Thomas Myerscough and Thomas Ray. They led when they pointed that document. This publication and some other so-called labor papers define labor more than the 'kept press' has ever done."

Victims His Retirement.

"All my predecessors have retired from office because of that element which attacks and tears down. The same fate is reserved for me. If it comes tomorrow I shall step down, knowing I served you as well as I can serve."

Strife with the insurgents was the administration's lot the entire day. Three locals had offered a resolution demanding that all miners strike the moment war is declared rather than fight. It was defeated and a substitute adopted which said "abolition of war can be brought nearer by constant agitation for disarmament."

"We recognize that our nation cannot eliminate entirely its national defenses with other nations wounding their war drums. We recognize that members of our union direct their thoughts to a greater knowledge of the forward movement toward everlasting peace."

Officials Oppose Affiliation.

In a discussion of the refusal of the railway brotherhood to affiliate with the mine workers it was brought out that the opposition came from the officials rather than the rank and file in the brotherhood.

Mine union officials will continue their efforts to gain closer relations with the rail men, the delegates were told.

BILL GIVES ROADS 7 YEARS' GRACE TO CONSOLIDATE

After That Cummins Is for "Compulsion."

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Voluntary consolidations of railroads for a period of seven years, after which the interstate commerce commission may compel consolidations on application of a carrier or carriers owning the major part of the rail mileage in any proposed group fixed by the commission, is provided in a bill introduced today by Senator Cummins (Rep., Ia.), former chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee. The measure amends the consolidation provisions of the existing transportation act and provides for federal incorporation of railroads. Making substantial changes in existing law, it reflects the views of President Coolidge and Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, as well as those of Senator Cummins.

Follow Coolidge Suggestion.

The bill provides that if two or more carriers propose consolidation within two years after the passage of the railroad consolidation act of 1924 they shall jointly apply to the commission for approval of the plan. If, after hearing, the commission finds that the public interest will be promoted by such reorganization, the commission may approve of it.

At the end of two years after the passage of the act provision is made for the appointment of "consolidation committees" to facilitate voluntary consolidations. This was recommended by President Coolidge in his message to congress and by Secretary Hoover.

Plan Compulsory Consolidation.

The bill provides that the commission may at any time by order require railroad properties to be made available for common use, as provided in the plan of consolidation. At the end of seven years from the date of passage of the act the commission is given power to adjust within any incomplete system the operating income of connecting carriers and prescribe equitable divisions of joint rates, fares, and charges, to the end that the surplus of each carrier in the system will be substantially the same, thereby approaching as near as may be the condition which would exist if the railway properties of all such carriers were, in accordance with the plan of consolidation, consolidated into one corporation for ownership, management, and control.

The bill then provides that after the period of voluntary action has expired any carrier or carriers owning the major part of the main track mileage within any system may propose a reorganization plan.

RAILWAYS LEAD EFFICIENCY RACE, EXPERTS ASSERT

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The economic picture of American agriculture, manufactures, mines, and railroads, as shown at the annual meeting of the National Transportation Institute at the Union League club yesterday is impressive and significant.

One of the chief points established by the survey is that the increase in output per unit of capital invested has been greater in railroads than in any other of the principal industries since 1900. The basic industries of manufacture and farming used more capital per worker for increased output, but the report said:

"In railroads each worker using slightly less capital than twenty years ago, transported 18 per cent more tons of freight, and carried each one of these sixty miles, or 25 per cent further. Each worker, therefore, carried almost one and a half times as many tons one mile as twenty years ago."

"If we state the same thing from the standpoint of the consumer, who must pay in price or in rates, wages for the labor and necessary profits on the capital, we find that the capital charge per unit of output in manufacture and agriculture has more than doubled in mining this has increased by one-third, while in transportation it is smaller today than it was two decades ago."

"Capital invested in the four basic industries is $149,185,497,469, an increase of $108,185,497,469 from 1900 to 1920. The percentages of increase are: agriculture, 331; manufacturing, 485; mines, 207; railroads, 153."

The Impetus of an Idea Our "New Order of Things" is Extended to Our Hat Department

By GEORGE H. CAPPER

President, Capper & Capper

AN irresistible force that altered his entire destiny was created by Roger Bacon, the inventor of gunpowder, from a formula and a heap of mineral grains.

Equally compelling is the force that now rules the house of Capper & Capper, the originators of the "New Order of Things" in clothes for men, and carries them onward to spheres of achievement of which they had never dreamed.

A year ago this "uplifted standard of quality" was only a vaguely sketched plan. It is now a dominant influence that sways our entire organization. It has kindled an unquenchable enthusiasm in departments that had no part in the initial steps, and now our hat department is preparing to raise the standard of merit to a level never before attempted.

It matters little that for years we have been the unchallenged arbiters of style in men's headwear. A succession of distinctive models and matchless fabrics have maintained our acknowledged supremacy from season to season; but the "New Order of Things" recognizes no final limits of excellence.

You shall know more of our purpose later. The first step is taken today, with the beginning of the most important clearance sale of hats that the industry has ever seen. Every hat, no matter how fine, is to be sold, without regard to production cost or regular selling price. Every item of our present stock must go, to make way for merchandise of the new standard.

Reductions will be as follows:

- All $5 hats now . . . $3.50
- All $7 to $8 hats now . . . $5.50
- All $10 to $12 hats now . . . $7.50
- All $15 to $18 hats now . . . $10.50
- All $20 to $25 hats now . . . $15.50
- All $2.50 to $3.00 caps now . . . $1.75
- All $3.50 to $4.00 caps now . . . $2.50
- All $5.00 to $6.00 caps now . . . $3.50

Included in this sale, and at proportionate reductions, is a large offering of our now famous Mossant Beavers.

The pronounced reductions on such qualities as ours will mean an extremely heavy volume of sales. We therefore ask you to bear with us if exceptional pressure should cause us unavoidable embarrassment.

FLARE IN HOUSE MAY RESULT IN G. O. P. TAX BILL

Committee Kills Levy on Candy and Telegrams.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Tentative decisions to repeal the tax on candy and the tax on telegrams, telephones and leased wires were reached today by the house ways and means committee.

Repeal of the manufacturer's tax on candy was not contemplated under the Mellon program and will mean a loss of $11,000,000 annually. The repeal of the tax on telegrams, telephones and leased wires was recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and will mean a loss in revenue of about $30,000,000 annually.

Other Taxes May Go.
The committee tomorrow expects to decide on the repeal or reduction of additional miscellaneous taxes which would be left in the law under the Mellon program. Such action will be made possible probably by only a partial repeal of the tax on admissions, which yields $70,000,000 annually, and which Secretary Mellon proposed to eliminate.

It was indicated that there is strong sentiment for the repeal of the jewelry tax and also such taxes as those on carpets and rugs and trunks and suitcases as well as the tax on automobile parts and trucks.

The ways and means committee worked in fairly harmonious fashion and there was no open split between Republicans and Democrats. Representative Treadway (Rep., Mass.), however, issued a statement urging that the Republicans abandon further efforts to prepare a tax bill in conference with the Democrats and instead write a strictly Republican bill.

Debate in House.
Mr. Treadway's statement was issued following a discussion in the house participated in by Representative Garner (Dem., Tex.), ranking minority member of the committee, and Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the committee.

Mr. Green issued a statement in reply to an assertion by Mr. Garner that if the Republicans desire to make a compromise agreement with the Democrats they should present a specific proposal.

"We are in the majority and could make up the bill in the committee as we saw fit," he said. "Notwithstanding this, we offer to consider the bill on a nonpartisan basis as Secretary Mellon suggested. This

CONTRACTORS FAVOR MELLON TAX CUT; LANDIS AWARD, TOO

Indorsement of the Mellon plan for the reduction of income taxes, election of officers for the ensuing year, and an arrangement of national contractors who build in Chicago in violation of Landis award conditions, marked the closing session yesterday of the Associated Contractors' convention at the Hotel La Salle.

Frederick L. Cranford of Brooklyn was elected president to succeed John W. Cowper of Buffalo. A. S. Downey, Seattle, Leonard C. Wilson, Boston and H. H. Wilson of Harrisburg were selected by the convention as vice presidents. The newly elected board of directors consisted of W. A. Brown, New York City; T. J. Baker, Milwaukee; Henry Ericson, Chicago; Nat MacDougal, Portland, and H. W. Bays of Salt Lake City.

The resolution adopted, upholding the Landis award, says "the deplorable opportunity which in the past has led contractors to destroy the just labor conditions, which have been built up locally, is a matter which should receive sweeping condemnation of the Associated General Contractors."

offer was not accepted and for us to make any specific offer to compromise would be to lay to all our cards on the table while Mr. Garner kept his in his sleeve. We have nothing further to propose."

Attacked Mellon Plan.
Representative Treadway's statement was as follows:

"In view of Mr. Garner's intensely partisan speech today and his continued reference to the surtax rates, I am now in favor of the Republican members of the ways and means committee writing the rates in the revenue reduction bill and reporting the same to the house as a Republican measure."

Developments in the senate included statement by Senator Johnson (Rep., Cal.), presidential candidate, taking exception to the administration mandate against any change in the Mellon plan.

Baker-Banker Indicted on $100,000 Shortage Charge

The grand jury yesterday indicted Vincenzo Pompilio, former baker boy, who opened and operated a "foreign exchange bank" in the rear of his father's bakery at 311 Milwaukee avenue. He had confessed he was about $100,000 short. The indictment charged embezzlement.

SKEEZIX IS STAR IN COURT BATTLE OVER CANDY BARS

To whom does Skeezix really belong? This question, that has bothered Wait and, in fact, all Gasoline Alley, is being settled in the Circuit court.

Skeezix himself appeared yesterday before Master in Chancery Harry A. Riley. In fact, two of him appeared, and that made the case still more puzzling.

"Frank King owns Skeezix," contended counsel for the Curtis Candy company. "We have his permission to make the only and original Skeezix candy bar. We are asking an injunction restraining Cannar & Marshall from using Skeezix in any way."

It was explained that the latter concern, controlled by Charles W. Cannar and Alice Marshall, successors to the Beaux Arts Candy company, has been selling a Skeezix bar.

But they haven't the original Skeezix," contended counsel for the Curtis concern. "You can see, your honor, that the infant they have—this babe in swaddling clothes—is not Skeezix. Skeezix is a big boy now. You can see for yourself that our Skeezix is the Skeezix of today—a regular boy, fast growing out of the romper stage."

Mr. King declared the last time he saw Skeezix he looked exactly like the boy pictured on the wrapper of the Curtis candy bar. In fact, he admitted drawing the picture. But when an attorney reached for the candy bar to introduce it as evidence it had disappeared.

Skeezix had eaten it.

NEW YORK MAIL SOLD TO MUNSEY

New York, Jan. 24.—Announcement was made tonight that Frank A. Munsey, proprietor of the New York Herald, the Sun and Globe, and the Evening Telegram, had purchased the Evening Mail and would consolidate it with the Telegram.

The purchase was made yesterday. Mr. Munsey said. The consolidated newspaper, which will be called the Telegram and Evening Mail, will appear Monday. The Evening Mail was founded in 1859.

Mr. Munsey entered the New York newspaper field more than two decades ago. In 1912 he bought the New York Tribune, which he consolidated with the Sun which he bought with the Evening Sun in 1918.

His next purchase brought him the New York Herald and the Telegram. He consolidated the Sun and Herald, using the latter name and changing the Evening Sun to the Sun. Several months ago he acquired the Globe and consolidated it with the Sun.

Purchase of the Mail leaves but three other English evening newspapers outside Mr. Munsey's group—the Journal, Evening World, and the Post, purchased less than a month ago by Cyrus H. K. Curtis of Philadelphia.

The most perfect music- reproducing instrument made

HIDDEN in every phonograph record is all of the character, personality and interpretation which was imparted to the original. It has remained for The Cheney, through an unusual series of acoustic inventions, to restore the original in all of its beauty.

Those who hear The Cheney for the first time are seldom prepared for its rich, sweet quality of tone, strikingly superior to that of any other phonograph. Words alone cannot picture how it brings out a voice, a violin or even a whole orchestra.

Piano records ring with that rare quality of tone which only a piano has. Orchestra records are full and complete. Artists seem to stand before you as they sing and play. The Cheney has attained new heights in the art of tone reproduction.

The CHENEY costs no more than an ordinary phonograph
Regular and Console models priced from $100 to $1275

SPRING'S coming. And spring clothes... Are you going to be mannish and tailored, in covert of simplest line? Or boyish and trim in navy blue with a touch of white? Or are you invincibly feminine, with a smart complex in favour of black, which is best of all? Even at that, what length is your coat—and of what material? So much depends on the fabric in these days, for trimming hardly exists.

Vogue answers all such questions, and many others about line and colour in Paris and New York—takes you to the great French fabric creators—gives you a dictionary of American fabrics—and pages of sketches showing the dictionary come to life, on the Avenue and at the smart resorts.

FRIENDS HONOR JUDGE KAVANAGH, 25 YRS. ON BENCH

Members of Bench and Bar Attend Banquet.

Twenty-five years ago, Marcus A. Kavanagh, returning from the Spanish-American war, threw a black judge's hat over his shoulders and walked the bench in the Superior Court of Cook county.

A banquet last night in the Morrison hotel, more than 300 of his old associates in arms, associates on the bench, brother members of the bar, and intimate friends gathered.

Dever as Toastmaster.

Major Dever, who used to be in the same court with Judge Kavanagh before he took over his present duties, was the toastmaster at the banquet.

James C. McShane, attorney, a life-long friend, was there to tell of the "big and big things that happened" to Judge Kavanagh.

State's Attorney Crowe, Federal Judge Alschuler, Wade H. Ellis, Mons. Edward A. Kelly, Judge William McSherry, also were there.

Spoken about the room were Judges John K. Prindiville, Edgar A. Jones, Timothy D. Hurley, Hugo Fami, and others. Finally the judge was toasted by Toastmaster Dever.

"I am overwhelmed by the gracious kindness of this tribute," the judge said. "I stand humbled before all this unreserved friendship," calling attention to the "twenty-five busy years" he himself has lived.

"Great judges have been my contemporaries and companions," he continued, "did their work, passed away, and are forgotten."

Prindiville Present Judge.

"Sitting on the bench today are men as capable and as eminent as ever served this country as judge. They,

SURGEON OPPOSES IODINIZED WATER AS GOITRE PREVENTIVE

Washington, Ill., Jan. 24.—Opposition to the suggestion that as a means to the prevention of goitre among children the drinking water be iodinated was voiced here today by Dr. Andrew Crotti, surgeon, of Columbus, O., before the American Association for Study of Goitre. He stated that he is opposed to the measure because iodine is not an entirely harmless agent and while it might benefit some, it is very liable to convert a simple, nonpoisonous goitre in some other children into a severe poisonous one.

"There is much evidence to show," Dr. Crotti stated, "that goitre is due to infection."

He told of research work he had done and showed how he had isolated germs from goitre and found the same germs in drinking water.

too, will pass away and be forgotten, but the influence of their work will go on and on, shaping the destinies of children yet unborn.

"Every day the judge directs passing before him a procession of mercurious triumph and stinging defeat. He sends one man into lifelong poverty, he gives another riches; he sends one to a prison cell, he breaks the other's chains; he sends another, charged with the highest crime, back into the world with a whitened name, he bids that other fellow to climb the bitter gallows stair and die.

Feels Weight of Job.

"Through twenty-five years such has been my task. I am chastened to acknowledge how often I have failed in my task. God knows, I may be permitted one boast; notwithstanding my failings, I have tried with all my soul to decide justly. I have discovered that the brave thing is always the safe one.

"The end, in the course of nature, must not be far. It has no terrors for me. Death is as natural as life; it is better than life, else it would not succeed this life."

SUCCESS

The HUMAN Magazine

Founded and Edited by ORISON SWETT MARDEN

February SUCCESS was printed for the multitudes, is many-sided, readable and convincing. Listen in. The Winter program will fascinate you.

Fourteen Men Who are Rebuilding the World

Do you know the fourteen men who are remaking the world? SUCCESS tells you the names of those who have received the coveted Edison Medal.

Woodrow Wilson's "Little Secretary"

There's another personality you've often thought of back in the lurid years of war, the man who stood at the elbow of the president always, and obeyed when that personage, upon whom the single eye of the world was focused, spoke. SUCCESS introduces you to Woodrow Wilson's "Little Secretary" who emerges from a cloud of mystery and greets you with a human story that tells what a 19 year old boy in business college can do if he will.

The Bible as a "Newspaper Feature"

Fifty big daily newspapers in the United States are printing the Bible as a serial. To be sure, it is a new translation of the Bible, and the story of it is told by Mr. S. J. Duncan-Clark.

The Rise of Solomon Levitan

And Solomon Levitan, the peddler who has become treasurer of one of the states of the Union tells an inspirational story of what the humblest can do.

Success Pictorial

SUCCESS is unique in its pictorial features. The illustrated section in the popular Roto-gravure, one of our readers says, makes the magazine "crackle"; that suggests a wood fire and a comfortable curl-up to read the Human Magazine.

The "Mystery Man" of Radio

SUCCESS, for the first time since the ether was charted and tracks laid, gives the millions of Americans a close-up, personal, intimate introduction to the man whose voice is better known than that of any other human being. This mystery man you know by name. He is J. Andrew White. You know his powers of description, his clear thought, his happy expressions and winning voice, but you don't know what he looks like and what he thinks of you; and you won't know until you read his own story, written by himself, and see his portrait in the February SUCCESS. You'll like him, too.

Absorbing Fiction

"Lion of the Coal Pit"; How love for his fellow-men triumphed over the instinct of brutality, by Liam Hunt.

"Which Nobody Can Deny": A fine modern application of an old text, by Elaine Sterne Carrington.

"One Small Green Feather": Concluding episode of the Success mystery serial, by J. Franklin Harry.

cannot be made into a graven image.

All the marble monuments, the grandeur of memorials, the silver-tongued oratory, the poems of the ages dedicated to the great personality—fail to tell the story of today—the story of THE LIVING LINCOLN. The man stood alone like a mountain pine braving the pitiless tempests of winter. The soul that was housed in that rugged son of February moves on, while partisan affiliations and sectional alliances have gone into oblivion.

You'll tune in with the rhythm of the humanities, now that the static of political prejudice has subsided,—when you read Dr. Orison Swett Marden's masterpiece,

"The Living LINCOLN,"

in the February SUCCESS—On all news stands today.

This is called by popular acclaim The Human Magazine; SUCCESS is the You magazine; SUCCESS believes in you, in your potentialities, your possible power to become the Lincoln of the young century.

If you have not noticed that this old magazine, founded in 1898, has burst its chains, made its way to fresh air and sunlight and freedom, and demonstrated the sufficiency of its philosophy, "You Can if You Think You Can,"

Buy the February SUCCESS and be convinced.

What is to Happen in the Air?

The air is a mystery which engrosses every human being today. Major Hensley tells what is to happen in the air in 1924; he knows for he has charted it.

An Empire Builder of the Great West

Horace Greeley said many more things than "Go West, young man," but that suggestion was the only one that Harry Chandler, a sickly, New Hampshire lad of 17, heard when a generation ago he left his home to go out into the wilderness, to become one of the remarkable men of America—in the SUCCESS series of Human Visualization. You'll be sure to say to this penniless Yankee who has become one of the giants of California, "I'm delighted to meet you, Mr. Chandler," and he will grip your hand, and tell you how he did it, and after that you'll call him Harry. In February SUCCESS.

She Follows Her Nose

Do you know about the woman who is making a fortune by following her nose? Read the story of Ann Haviland in February SUCCESS.

When Dreams Come True

Think of surprising George Bernard Shaw! He tells readers of SUCCESS that the achievement of The Theatre Guild, a wonderfully human institution, has so amazed him that he has hardly yet recovered his breath.

Psychology of Clothes

Every man and woman knows what part clothes play in success. Here is an article you will want to cut out and carry about with you; it will help you every day in the year.

PENCIL AND IDEA TO NET SOME ONE BULK OF $25,000

Rich Prize Waits Namer of New Magazine.

Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. All those present who are interested in $25,000 each will kindly come to order.

And now that everybody is seated let us direct your attention to next Sunday's issue of this newspaper.

The owners of this Tribune and the New York Daily News will pay $25,000 cash for a name for their new national weekly magazine, which will begin publication early in the spring. In next Sunday's issue a full page advertisement will tell you all about the contest—the greatest of its kind ever held.

It's Open to Every One.

It is open to every one. Three prizes will be awarded—prizes of $25,000, $4,000, and $1,000—to the persons who submit the best names and suggest for the new publication and tell—briefly, in not more than 100 words—why they think their suggestions are the best.

A lead pencil, an idea, a copy of Sunday's paper, and five minutes in which to read and carry out the rules—and you're all ready to route some of this free fortune in your own direction.

So far the country have been winning, but most of their voices have been weak.

What's Your Idea? Speak Up!

Study the suggestions which have already been submitted. What's your idea? You never can tell what the judges will think of it. Buck up! Send it in! Give it the gun! Look at these:

"THE PEOPLE'S WATCHWORD—By Which a Friend Is Known."

"THE AGATE—Admired by Every Body."

"THE RADIANT AGE—The Magazine of This Age, for People of All Ages."

"PENS AND PICTURES—The Greatest Weekly for Every Kind of People."

"THE CLOCK-TICK—Right Up to the Minute with Fiction, Fashion, Photos and Fun."

"THE CLEANER—It Gathers the Harvest of Mental Fruition."

"THE VISTA—The World's Greatest Magazine."

And Look These Over.

"THE ORACLE—The World's Greatest Prophet." (That fellow thought highly of us.)

"THE TRIBUNE'S WEEKLY ANNEX—The World's Only Four Color Family Magazine." (But we aren't!)

"PRIMIER—Opened with Expectation; Closed with Profit." (Wouldn't 'satisfaction' have been better?)

"BLAS—America's Greater Magazine Tells All." (Ho-hum!)

"TAKMEALONG—A Magazine for Old and Young." (Certainly, but what we want is a title in English. Very few of us are versed in either Chinese or Greek.)

"I-X-L—The World's Best Magazine."

Send in Your Best!

Don't copy these suggestions and send them in. You can't win any of the $25,000 by doing that.

Get a copy of next Sunday's paper. Read the rules carefully. Think about the matter for a few moments, and then send in your very best idea.

ELUSIVE DISEASE KILLED LENIN, BUT NOT SYPHILIS

Stockholm Specialist
Tells of Visit.

BY MARTIN MARTELIUS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.)

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 24.—Prof. Hansson, cerebral specialist, was one of the physicians who treated the late Premier Lenin during his illness. Prof. Hansson was called to Moscow last March by Prof. Forster of Breslau, a German doctor, who also treated Lenin. At the same time five other German doctors were summoned to Moscow to treat M. Lenin, who broke down from overwork following some public speeches.

Paralyzed on Side.

The medical council had daily conversations about the leader's steadily increasing paralysis. M. Lenin's little apartment in the Kremlin. M. Lenin then was totally paralyzed on the right side of his body and the right side of his face. He could utter only broken words. Later he was totally apathetic and could not speak at all.

Following many consultations in the presence of M. Lenin's family and Soviet officials, Leon Trotsky thanked the doctors, saying that the government had done all it could by summoning Europe's best physicians to Moscow.

No Sign of Syphilis.

Prof. Hansson categorically denies reports that M. Lenin suffered from general paralysis due to syphilis infection. He said that death seemed to have been caused by serious changes in the blood vessels of the brain which were found last March and probably by arterio-sclerosis. The professor said that rumors that M. Lenin was a syphilitic were not corroborated by an inspection of his blood, which gave no Wassermann reaction.

$100,000,000 OFFER TODAY TO LEASE MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—B. C. Edgar, general manager of the Tennessee Electric Power company; E. W. Hill, vice president of the Memphis Power and Light company; and Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power company, tonight announced that the Associated Public Utility Power companies, which have submitted an offer to pay $100,000,000 for a fifty year lease for Muscle Shoals power under the federal water power act, would submit to congress tomorrow, through the secretary of war, an offer to organize a corporation to produce fertilizer at Muscle Shoals.

Associated with these companies will be scientists and experts in the manufacture of fertilizer ingredients and air fixation processes.

The fertilizer company will have a capital stock of $5,000,000 and immediately begin construction of plants and equipment, and will agree to produce 50,000 tons of fixed nitrogen in the form of ammonium sulphate, ammonium phosphate, or other nitrogenous concentrated fertilizer, and also calcium arsenate, they said.

SERBS SUPPRESS CROATIA LIBERTY WITH MASSACRE

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.)

ATHENS, Jan. 24.—The government of Yugoslavia, which includes in its rule Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes (forming one of the mistiest states which former President Wilson helped to set up), has started to crush the republican movement in Croatia by fire and sword.

After deliberately deciding last week to strangle the economic development of Croatia by handing over Fiume to Italy, the Serbian cabinet at Belgrade has now declared war on the Croatian republicans, who have been greatly encouraged by the success of the Greek republican movement.

Massacre of Republicans.

Throughout Croatia, which has been practically in a state of siege since the armistice, huge Serbian garrisons are being increased, republican leaders are being jailed or killed, and remote, republican villages are being burned. All republican newspapers have been closed.

Belgrade, where Yugoslavia has a free zone and which it covets in entirety, is the chief port of entry and exit for the nation, and it puts the industries and consumers of Croatia under a crushing burden.

The republican and separatist movement in Croatia, where the tyranny of Belgrade is proving worse than that of Vienna, has increased tremendously since M. Radich was driven from the country, and a majority of the population is now republican.

FUND FOR GRIFFIS IS STILL SHORT OF "WAR STRENGTH"

More Is Needed Before Going Over the Top.

One hundred and thirty-three contributions of $10 each, twenty-seven of $5 each, or fourteen of $100 each, will put the fund for the relief of Lieut. Corlies H. Griffis over the top. There remains only $1,330.15 to be donated toward the necessary $5,000.

How long is Lieut. Griffis going to be forced to wait?

Old Editor Does His Bit.

An old man who knew and edited newspapers when linotype machines were unheard of came to the office of THE TRIBUNE yesterday. He came in answer to the call of the printer's ink that draws old newspaper men to the offices of the daily paper in whatever town they visit. And he came to make his contribution to the fund to free an American soldier from a jail in Germany.

Recalls Own War Deed.

He had been one of the first to enlist in the civil war. He told of carrying a wounded comrade out of the firing line, "a young patriotic fellow like this young lieutenant in Germany."

He refused to have his name published so it is acknowledged like this: "A Connecticut son of the American revolution and a civil war veteran."

STATIONERY OF STATE USED FOR SMALL BOOSTS

Blurbs Now Flooding All of Illinois.

BY PARKE BROWN.

More than ten weeks in advance of the April primaries, Gov. Len Small is bombarding voters throughout the state with political campaign material in connection with which official stationery of state departments is used.

Some downstate, particularly newspaper editors, have received so much mail of this character that they predict the state will be flooded with it during February and March. Apparently the expense is borne almost entirely by the taxpayers.

Dozens of samples of this "literature" have been sent by voters to THE TRIBUNE. One downstate yesterday sent in nine different pieces of matter sent him by the governor. With one exception, all were intended to be boosts for the governor's candidacy. The exception was "press matter" in behalf of Walter M. Provine, candidate for attorney general. This it was said, was included in one of the Small letters.

Some Sample Blurbs.

Written on the letterheads and enclosed in the envelopes of the department of public works and highways, and signed by Director C. H. Miller, were three letters concerning Small's "road meetings," the price of cement, and similar subjects.

In a plain envelope was a contribution from the governor's own press bureau setting up at length that "State Senator Thurston G. Eastington, Small's opponent, had not been warmly received down state and that Small was welcomed with open arms wherever he went."

Still another piece of "literature" was a reprint of an editorial in the Chicago Herald and Examiner, published about the time William H. Ma-done was made chairman of the state tax commission in exchange for the support of the Hearst newspapers for Small.

Still another Small communication to a selected but large list of voters is an engraved request that the recipient consent to the use of his name as a member of Small's executive committee. Some of the addressees have said they never have met the governor but are sure they won't support him.

All of the letters are sent out under two cent stamps and, as indicated by reports from all over the state, the mailing list is large enough to run the expense of the Small mail campaign into hundreds of thousands in a short time.

Claims Forty for McAdoo.

William L. O'Connell, Illinois manager for McAdoo, opened his state headquarters in the Great Northern hotel yesterday and issued a statement that McAdoo will have forty of the fifty-eight delegates to the New York convention when the primaries are over.

ESSINGTON GOES AFTER LEN AT WAUKEGAN RALLY

Waukegan, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.]

Senator Thurston G. Eastington, candidate for governor, at a mass meeting here tonight riddled Gov. Len Small's administration as shown by the records.

"Many of those records have been written in this county," Senator Eastington said. "And in Lake county there still lingers the memory of the pardoning of Ben Newman and Mike Boyle."

"In other counties there have been other pardons. These have gone into the records with the hard road campaign. State money is being used to force voters into line and patronage used to influence action in the legislature."

"With this money and this patronage there are being built, more than anything else, political roads, and not hard roads."

ANDY SPINS A WEB

In the middle of June Andy Spins a web for himself far out on the lake, and a few days later he is seen by no one since he left his home in the winter. He has been seen by no one since he left his home in the winter. He has been seen by no one since he left his home in the winter.

The two gripped hands silently beyond a few compasses, they did not speak. The two gripped hands silently beyond a few compasses, they did not speak. The two gripped hands silently beyond a few compasses, they did not speak.

Andy grinned at his voice when he was almost a clean sweep. Cron's did you do it? Rod cried jubilation of their fur?

"It wasn't me. First of all, Tom when he picked that stick on Black from the living room. The stick was passed it on their way to his post at Black. And you spun a little web of your own. But the thing that won was so quick. I could pay 'em a price for the stick of old trade goods you sent me?"

"That was one of dad's mistakes, answered. 'He didn't mend a leak in the get wet. Some pond got a hour or two, partly gelled in one way or another. 'Goods no Indian would take for fur, eh? Andy nodded in understanding.

"Of course, I was through every the damaged stuff. I kept George, P.

they hung on hoping for more. Pretty around the place, but a back cradle would have been a good idea. He didn't want to play with that. Why, lad, those Mattawa they won't even listen when you try to

"But there's one thing. They're in the middle of your come through telling over themselves passing the walls over

"That was luck and a friendly tip word from Montreal that prices had advanced. But it wasn't luck the way you used said that Indian, trading thirty hours ago. But fur hasn't gone up that much

"There was a mean advance of 15 prices here. Had to protect our own. But I figured that with the same could pay 25 per cent more and just about

"But Cron must have got the news. He did, only it was too late. The was released here. The messenger was a When I started raising prices. The Spider beginning of the spring trading, and I thought I was losing all my profit."

"Figured he was letting you hang you? Yes, and then when all the sixty of just three of them—a message came of the fur of those men who stopped at

"From a few. They couldn't stand have killed them four of Cron. The went on to Mattawa. What was he? held those hunters we've weaned away strong The Spider will build an outpost

"Let him!" Rod exclaimed, and for there was a savage light in his eyes. We're going to beat him. He's lost a lot Lake Deception again."

"And then?"

"We're going into Mattawa. The We'll build a post right beside his and outside."

"Lad," Andy said huskily, "you do in his grave and let out a whoop. He had back and forth."

"You're not thinking of going in trader asked at last."

"That would be foolish," Rod answered for a while he held the advantage we've ourselves. The Spider will hang on her

"What can he do? He can't get the No, they're pretty well aware of it. Mattawa. I've talked to them a lot. The

"Picked up your Ojibwa again, eh?" "That came easy," Rod laughed. "The Spider here isn't enough. He's not that spring we can't be too careful."

"He won't dare do anything more. Did dad ever tell you about the time he came, when I was a kid? I believed it was a bluff. But the Spider it through outside the law."

"He did, eh? And Tom took him then. It seemed me. Dad only laughed. And now, after what he's done."

"Wait. After you left here last wouldn't go, so he came over here. They are out for five thousand and seven hundred if I remember the agreement he made and he left with the remark that I

The Fourth Norwood

By ROBERT E. PINKERTON.

SYNOPSIS

Tom Norwood, while sitting a milk-trip on the banks of the Drowning river, saw a boat at Lake Deception in the Hudson Bay territory, near Lake Crook, a rival of his father's, coming into the district. Tom is known to the district as the boy who saved the lives of the crew of the ship, the "Drowning," when it was wrecked on the banks of the river. ### INSTALLMENT XXIII.

ANDY SPINE A WEB OF HIS OWN.
In the middle of June Andy Spine arrived from Black Sturgeon. Rod had been out on the lake, and a telescope had made it possible to see the boat as it came long before the heavily loaded freight canoe touched the Norwood dock.

The two gripped hands silently as the old trader stepped ashore but, beyond a few comments, they did not speak until they were alone in the privacy of the living room.
Andy grinned as he pulled a knife and plug from a pocket, but there was a serious note in his voice when he asked, "How did you come out, lad?"

"Well, they all stopped on their way to Mattawa," Andy said. "I handed out pork and flour and a few of those stained blankets to the first ones, and then I went through everything, made an inventory, segregated the damaged stuff. I kept George, Paul and Henry busy for a week, and now we're down to a clear start. A lot of things had been thrown away, planned some of the Spider's hunters, and there was no loss. But how did you get them to sell so much to you?"

"Well, they all stopped on their way to Mattawa," Andy said. "I handed out pork and flour and a few of those stained blankets to the first ones, and then I went through everything, made an inventory, segregated the damaged stuff. I kept George, Paul and Henry busy for a week, and now we're down to a clear start. A lot of things had been thrown away, planned some of the Spider's hunters, and there was no loss. But how did you get them to sell so much to you?"

"There was a mean advance of 15 per cent. I paid 10 per cent higher than here. Had to protect our own Indians, give them some of the advance, but I figured that with the smaller number at Black Sturgeon you could pay 25 per cent more and just about offset what I saved here."

"But Cron must have got the news, too," Rod said.
"He did, only it was too late. The word went through to Mattawa, and he relayed here. The messenger was slow, and it gave us five extra days. When I started raising prices The Spider thought it was only a bait at the beginning of the spring trading, and didn't meet it. When I kept on he thought I was losing all my profit."

"I figured he was letting you hang yourself," the old trader chuckled.
"Yes, and then when all the sixty hunters had traded—he got the fur of just three of them—his message came through. But Andy! Did you get all the fur of those men who stopped at Black Sturgeon?"

"That was easy," Rod laughed. "You ought to hear me. But looking The Spider here isn't enough. He's not licked yet and after what happened last spring we can't be too careful."

"He won't dare do anything more like that," Andy objected.

"Did dad ever tell you about the talk he had with Cron the second time he came, when I was a kid? Dad didn't pay much attention to it."

"And now, after what he's done—," Andy began.

"Wait. After you left here last spring The Spider sent for me. I didn't go, so he came over here. Among other things, like offering to let me out for five thousand and saying he was going to stick this time, he said he remembered the agreement he and dad made. I told him it suited me and he left with the remark that I would get what I wanted."

THE GUMPS—MODESTY, THY NAME IS GUMP

'Ma-in-Law' Finally Gets Even Break

Edith York Makes Film Worth Seeing.

"MOTHERS-IN-LAW": Released by Celebrated Players. Directed by A. GASTNER.
THE CAST:
Vivian Courtland..... Ruth Clifford
David Wessels..... George Glavin
Ina Phillips..... Vola Vale
Alden Van Buren..... Crawford Kent
Keweenaw Wines..... Joseph Swickard
"Mom" Wines..... Edith York

By Mae Tinsie.
Good morning!
Here's a new angle on the mother-in-law situation. The dear, determined elderly lady in the case DOESN'T break up any homes. True, she runs away with the baby. True, she is right on the job at most unexpected moments. True, there are times when she "gets a mad on"—a most decided mad, too. But there's always method in her madness and the picture ends with the slender, white-haired figure, gallant and crowned with victory. She has brought order out of threatened matrimonial chaos in the face of most tremendous odds.

If the producers had clung to the idea of simplicity in the making of this picture I think they would have had a sure thing box office attraction. However, they had to ring in some of these semi-Nero party scenes were all so sick of. They had to indulge in a lot of small, insignificant play. They couldn't be content just to go ahead in a straightforward way, and eliminate what is called down, a really interesting story.

Despite all this, "Mothers-In-Law" can boast some good acting. Edith York, as "Mom," has her moments of positive splendor. Ruth Clifford, as the wife, is pretty convincing despite her atrocious makeup. Everybody else qualifies. So do the photography and some of the sets. The scenery is O. K.

Personally I think "Mothers-In-Law" worth seeing because of the idea behind it and because of the acting of Edith York.

See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

"In the Palace of the King," from the novel by F. Marion Crawford, is to earn a lot of money—it is hoped—for the Home for Destitute and Crippled Children. Because on Jan. 21 the Sunbeam league, an organization of Chicago society women, is to show it as a benefit for these little ones at the supper-dance at the Studio, 421 Rush street.

Norman Selby, better known as "Kid McCoy," will appear with his "cock-screw" punch [whatever that is] in the second episode of "The Telephone Girl," now in production at the F. B. O. Hollywood studios.

Vice Doomed While He Is Mayor, Dever Assures Vigilantes

Vice will never again, as long as the present city administration is in control, "lift its head in any definite form" in Chicago.
At least this was a pledge Mayor Dever made to 250 men and women who last night attended the sixteenth annual banquet of the Illinois Vigilance association.

After acknowledging plaudits that greeted the cravatmaster's reference to the mayor's efforts to enforce laws, Mr. Dever deprecated commendation for performing duty, for "doing a thing no decent man should think of not doing."
While at the outset he voiced reluctance in discussing the administration's policy toward vice, expressing preference for a consideration of physical problems—the terminal and traction projects and street widening—he devoted forty-five minutes to the topic of most interest to the association. Summing up, Mayor Dever said: "We are doing all we can to suppress crime of all sorts—and that's all we can do. He met the argument that police should concentrate on extermination of footpads and burglars, rather than vice, with the answer that reports are the 'breeding place of all crime.'"

Albert E. Webster, assistant superintendent of the association, submitted a report reviewing the organization's achievements.

finds Co-eds Read More than Men—More 'Trash'

University women read more literary "trash" than men, according to figures made public yesterday by Prof. Robert Morse Lovett, head of one of the English departments of the University of Chicago. Prof. Lovett finds that 15 per cent of the books read by the women are "trash," while only 8.5 per cent of that devoured by male students is rubbish. But Prof. Lovett also found that women read a great many more books than men, both good and bad.

Ruler of Japs to Take Bride in Rifle Fence

Imperial Guard, Police to Line Tokio Streets.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.]
TOKIO, Jan. 24.—Several thousand troops of the imperial guard of the first division will line three deep on one side of the streets through which Prince Regent Hirohito and his bride, Princess Nagako, will pass en route to the imperial palace from their homes Saturday for their wedding.

Five thousand police will line the other side.
Extreme precautions have been taken to insure peace and order on the wedding day. No foot or carriage traffic will be allowed in the streets to be traversed for an hour preceding the coming of the regent and his bride and also for the hour preceding the departure of the couple. Only the imperial couple leaves for Numazu following the wedding for a visit with the emperor and empress. The police are searching the homes of suspected radicals seeking firearms, which they are confiscating.

A number of editorials in the leading Tokyo papers are expressing a hope that the Prince of Wales, the friend of Prince Hirohito, will soon follow Hirohito's example and take a bride.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for The Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, 1905 West 54 street, Des Moines, Ia., was awarded $5.

Charlotte Miller, 2235 Fremont street, switchboard operator—Well, every citizen should vote, whether man or woman—no question about that. We should, but we don't. It's easier not to do a thing than to do it. Isn't that true? A book is more interesting than a polling booth.

Richard Farrell, 440 Barry avenue, investigator—It would be a fine thing if every one took enough interest in the welfare of the country to turn out on election day. That's a privilege of democracy. Only about half he people vote, even in the most important elections.

Miss Fern Helen Taylor, 1557 East 61st street, advertising—I don't believe any law could compel people to vote, but there's no question that they ought to vote if they think anything of their country. Vote and keep this the greatest democratic nation on earth.

E. C. Saba, 257 West 51st place, insurance adjuster—It can't be made compulsory, but people should vote. If they are citizens, they are entitled to vote, and they should show their true citizenship by voting.

Children of Every Age Are Pleased by Guy Maier's Recital

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Ordinarily Guy Maier is one of the famous two-plane combination of which Edison is the other half. On exceptional occasions he appears by himself and then he is quite an original and interesting as and even a bit more entertaining than when he is a section of the combination.

One of these occasions took place yesterday afternoon at Orchestra hall when Mr. Maier combined piano music and word of mouth into a recital for children. As it turned out, a good part of his audience was children who had grown up and even acquired gray hair, but they were quite as much entertained. Mr. Maier wore his recital into a running story, part fairy tale, part fanciful description, part realistic war experiences, part singing, whistling, and hand clapping by his auditors, and it developed into something as lively and full of easily taken information as the programs Mr. Stock gives twice a month with the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Mr. Maier is a personality with an easy gift for the right note at the keyboard. This department hears few recitals of the kind in the course of a season, and discovered many reasons yesterday why there should be more. The only trouble is there are not many persons capable of giving them in Mr. Maier's way. His music, like many other programs, ran through the list from Bach to the present day, but it confined itself to the specimens that have no possibility of becoming boring.

Ernie Hammar, soprano, gave a song recital at Fine Arts Recital hall last night, and in its course demonstrated that one of these days she probably will be able to do well in song. She has a good voice and it has a rather fine quality, but as yet is not developed to its full possibilities. In a song like "Massachusetts" she was superb. She produced some charming effects in the "Carnival." By four-draw, the going was somewhat more difficult.

Eric De Lamar conducted the Chicago Symphony orchestra through a popular concert at Orchestra hall. He scheduled Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony as the principal number, and introduced Jacques Gordon, the concertmaster, as soloist in Saint-Saens' Prelude to "The Deluge."

Box-Office Men's Dance:

News About the Theaters

The club composed of the Chicago theater box-office men is to give its annual dance next Wednesday night, starting at 10:30 o'clock, in the Tiger Room of the Hotel Sherman. The box-office men are to give a performance in the city which will take part.

Martin Harvey's management announces his tour as his first in America since he turned actor-manager; and it isn't. He says he is to give a performance in the city which will take part.

Miss Blossom Sealey is called upon by the managers' association of the two-day business to pay a fine of $1,000 for having refused to fill recent week in the Palace Music-Hall.

Dave Lewis, once the idol of Chicago as conductor of the early musical pieces in the La Salle, returns as advance-manager of "Caroline."

Stuart Baily, who directed the commendable efforts of the North-Shore Players for a time, is in the cast of Pirandello's "The Living Mask," made known this week in New York, where the critics don't think much of it.

Calls Reporter Newspapers' Foundation

Boston Editor Talks of Back Bay Journalism.

A gentleman of Boston once explained her devotion to the Boston Transcript as follows:
"If my sister and I were traveling from Back Bay to our summer home and bandits held our train, the first thing we would do would be to look down the car until we saw a man reading the Transcript. Then we should throw our arms about him and ask his protection; for we should know he was a gentleman."

So it was with mingled respect and awe last night that an audience at the Medill School of Journalism listened to James T. Williams Jr., who not only reads the Transcript but is editorially responsible for its daily appearance. As a Bostonian it was that Mr. Williams told his story about the Bostonian lady. It was as a journalist that he related the principles on which a newspaper should be founded. He was a reporter when he talked of three Presidents he had known.

Not Roosevelt of the big stick, nor Taft, ever ready with a genial story, but Coolidge, the granite faced, the thin lipped, is the best presidential news source with which he is familiar, Williams said.
"Taft had no nose for news; he resented criticism more than the others," said the editor of the New England paper, who spent several years as a Washington correspondent. "Roosevelt had no day on which all journalists visited the White House."

"But when President Coolidge receives the 150 or 200 correspondents every Tuesday and Friday and replies to their written questions it is all business. He answers in the fewest possible words and the correspondents usually find that he has a few pieces of additional information to give."

President Coolidge shows more hospitality to criticism in relation to the press than did either Taft or Roosevelt, said the speaker. And he has a record of never having answered public criticism.

In regard to the standing of the Washington correspondent Mr. Williams spoke less pleasantly. The newspaper man at the capital has little editorial liberty, he said; he is besieged by "handouts" in the form of "news" which propagandists wish to instill into the columns of his paper.

"The only obligation of the press is fidelity to the public welfare," he said. "It is the purveyor of the food of opinion. It serves this food hot and the exigencies of time and space excuse much. But they do not excuse the deliberate untruth which is to poison this food and to do harm to the public. The publication which panders to and is supported by a licentious minority is a curse to the community which it pretends to serve."

Though he called the Washington correspondent much less an editor and much more of a reporter, Mr. Williams said he meant no slur upon the reporter.

"A man who is an excellent reporter," he declared, "is well read and in this sense is cultured. He has the gift of making friends with worth while acquaintances and of making this gift the foundation of confidence not only in his intentions, his integrity, but also in his sound judgment."

"When an editor in chief ceases to be a good reporter, his sun is going down."

TANKS MAY QUIT OLYMPIC SKATE MEET IN A HUFF

CHAMONIX, France, Jan. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—The American skaters entered for the speed events in the Olympic competitions here, beginning Saturday, threatened today to refrain from competing in Saturday's events owing to a dispute over the number of rubbers and handfrees to be admitted to their dressing rooms.

The dispute is between William Taylor, manager of the American speed skaters, and the French Olympic committee. Clarence Carman, American professional bicyclist, volunteered his services as a trainer after the arrival of the skating team, and has since assisted the skaters in their training.

Brings Matter to Head.

Taylor insists that he be permitted to act as a like capacity during the games, which the French Olympic committee refuses.

The committee argues that the American team is already permitted to employ the limit of two trainers and rubbers, but Taylor contends there has been no such ruling. The matter came to a head today when Taylor told Alan H. Muhl, international secretary for the French Olympic committee, that unless Carman was permitted in the dressing room to give advice and physical attention, the skating team would not go on the ice on Saturday.

Muhl offered to the skaters a special pass to the stands, but this was not satisfactory to Taylor.

Knows No Such Rule.

"The incident may seem trifling to the home folks," Mr. Taylor said this evening, "but it is a question of principle and also of the manner in which my request was refused. I know of no Olympic rule preventing the engaging the services of a professional trainer, or limiting the number, provided they are kept within reasonable limits."

Muhl expressed deep regret, but said, "I am sorry, but we cannot allow the American privileges not granted to other teams."

Despite the strained situation, Manager Taylor sent his boys over the usual ten mile jump this morning, with grinning work in the afternoon, and the conditions of the skating rink not yet permitting ice practice.

The American hockey players also did road work. The probabilities are that the weather will turn colder and it is expected that the ice will be fit for training tomorrow.

Plan Skaters Find Own Pond.

The Flans are the only team to get any ice skating practice in the last two days. The American correspondents kept early vigil outside the modest boarding house sheltering the hockey athletes, and at 7 o'clock this morning saw the emergence and proceeded to a mountain just above Chamoni.

In a little gulch at an altitude 400 or 500 feet higher than the Olympic rink they found a pond of great hard.

The three skaters representing Finland dressed their skates and raced one another for a solid hour. Thursday is a weekday and will be hard to beat.

32 SKI JUMPERS ENTER FOR MEET AT GRAND BEACH

Grand Beach, Mich., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Thirty-two entries have been received for the Grand Beach Ski slalom tournament here next Sunday afternoon.

The Norge Ski club of Chicago heads the list with sixteen entries, including the jumpers originally from Norway who have affiliated with the Chicago organization. The Milwaukee Ski club has entered Fred Pabst Jr., Arvid Bakke and Sven Welhaven.

Confiding in predictions of their favorite brand of weather, the officials are preparing to care for a great crowd.

The Grand Beach slide is the steepest artificial slide in the west, and skiers are having some difficulty in making good landings. However, Hank Hanson, has cleared 162 feet in practice, which is ten feet better than the longest mark at the Cary meet, a week ago. Henrik Lundh, brother of the Grand Beach captain, is also making some long practice jumps.

Special trains will be run over the Michigan Central, leaving the 12th street station at intervals between 10 and 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. One train has been reserved for the Norge Ski club of Chicago.

SKATE BOARD MEETS TONIGHT

The board of control of the Western Skating association will hold a special meeting tonight at Alverno A. A. 4251 West North avenue. In all probability the western indoor and outdoor championships will be awarded to Milwaukee and held some time next month.

Roy Johnson of the Opal A. A., who was suspended from further competition this year for fouling in races, will appeal his case.

Entries for the Alverno A. A. Derby to be held at Humboldt park on Feb. 3, close on Monday with officials of the club.

Follies Girls to Race in Opal A. A. Skate Meet

A 250 yard skating race for members of the chorus of the Kieglfeld Follies has been added to the annual skating derby of the Opal A. A. at DePaul park Sunday afternoon, starting at 1 o'clock, according to J. J. Little, president of the club. Glida Gray has donated three cups for race winners.

McLean and Baptie Drill for Ice Races Sunday

Bobby McLean and Norval Baptie, well known professional speed skaters who meet in a series of matches at the Logan Square baseball park on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, are training at Lincoln park, while Baptie is getting in shape at Humboldt.

Franklin Park to Hold Skating Meet for Kids

A skating tournament for boys and girls will be held at the Franklin Park playground Tuesday night, starting at 7 o'clock. The event will be held under the auspices of the Franklin Park Community club, and those desiring further information are requested to call Director Smith at Monroe 5640.

Olympic Favorites Among 200 in Tonight's I. A. C. Meet

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Over 200 athletes, some of whom will be members of the American team to compete in the Olympic games in France next summer, are entered in the seventh annual indoor handicap track and field games of the Illinois A. C. at Broadway armory tonight.

The first event will start at 7:30 o'clock. While there is expected to be some spirited competition in most of the events because of the excellent handicapping, the feature race of the program should be the two mile intercollegiate relay.

In this event teams from Michigan, Ohio State, and Ames will try to win the first leg on the back. The second leg will be run by a team from the University of Illinois.

Ray in His Favorite Race. Included in the galaxy of stars are Joe Ray, who is practically a certainty for the American Olympic team. Joe will compete in the mile event and may step in another event if his effort in the original event is not too strenuous.

Ray's two starts in the east show he has lost none of his old time speed or stamina. He is expected to overcome the handicaps given the limit runners.

Ray Watson of the I. A. C. will start in the 600 yard run and should have a good chance.

PLAYGROUNDS PLAN TO GATHER SKATES FOR CITY HOSPITAL

REPLYING to the request of Charles Reading, assistant superintendent of the Tuberculosis sanitarium, for skates for patients, Charles H. English, superintendent of the playground system, yesterday sent out an order to all directors asking for old skates. When the discarded blades are received they will be sent to the sanitarium, according to Supt. English, who expects his directors to turn in over 100 pairs.

In Motordom

BY J. L. JENKINS

CHICAGO motorists have the unenviable distinction of being the most taxed individuals in town, according to Maj. Ray F. Britton, chairman of the legislative board of the American Automobile association.

He points out in one of the many arguments made to congress in the recent futile attempt to kill the motor car tax, that the motorists in most cities are subject to as high as eleven separate levies on the pocketbook.

There are: state license fees, city license fees, state personal property, city license fees, state title registration fees in addition to the four levied by the federal government when the car is bought. Britton stated that 600,000 into the national treasury in the past five years as a result of war taxes.

Paul G. Pommer of Los Angeles has been appointed secretary of the A. A. A. contest board by Chairman Joseph West of Detroit. He has acted as an official in practically every automobile race during the last eight years.

A final check of the huge motor movement into national parks last season shows that Uncle Sam was host to 4,388,700 visitors in the nineteen national forests of California alone.

Purple Shifts Lineup for Cage Game with De Pauw

With Barney Matthews back in the game, a switch of the Purple lineup is probable for the basketball game with De Pauw at Evanston tomorrow. "Bo" Graham may be shifted to Capt. Walt Stegman's position at forward, in which case Christian will replace Graham at guard. Ray McLennan seems to have earned a steady position at the other forward.

Loyola U. Drops 29 to 22 Game to Columbia College

Dubuque, Ia., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Brilliant basket shooting by Bowes, who sank seven baskets, gave Columbia college a 29 to 22 victory over Loyola university here tonight. Loyola took the lead at the start, but surrendered it near the close of the half when Columbia sank four baskets.

LUTHER VINS TWO.

Luther Vins, a Chicagoan, won the 100 yard dash at the 15th annual indoor track and field meet at the University of Illinois tonight. He finished in 15.2 seconds, beating the previous record of 15.4 seconds set by Ray Watson of the I. A. C.

ENGLEWOOD FIVES NIP TILDEN CAGERS TWICE

Englewood high school basketball teamers copped a couple of brilliant central section battles at Tilden, the heaviest winning, 25 to 24, and the ponies taking the home five into camp, 25 to 24, after five minutes' extra time.

In the heavyweight encounter Tilden held a ten point lead at the start of the third quarter, but Englewood's whirling offense established a win in the final minutes. The score at the half in the lightweight game was 21 to 21.

Tomorrow night the Tilden quintet will battle at Madison, Wis., accompanied by the football squad and a bunch of rooters. The gridmen will make the journey as guests of the school, having been denied a trip during the football season.

Phillips and Lindholm captured honors at Lindholm. Phillips captured the heavyweight title, 27 to 5. Lindholm, the light heavyweight, won the title, 14 to 9. Phillips reversed the outcome in the game, 12 to 3. Phillips' big boys, led by Spears, who knocked in seven baskets, had things their own way from the start of the battle. Phillips led at the half, 13 to 4.

WEST SECTION. Crane heaviest remained at the top of the list by defeating Austin at Austin, 28 to 7. The Austin ponies took the opening contest, 20 to 12. Lincolnton.

PHILIPS AND LINDHOLM. Phillips captured the heavyweight title, 27 to 5. Lindholm, the light heavyweight, won the title, 14 to 9. Phillips reversed the outcome in the game, 12 to 3. ## Curing your Golf Troubles

BY JIM BARNES

Jim Barnes will suggest a remedy for your golf troubles. Write him in care of the Sports Editor, including stamped envelope, if you want a personal answer.

DEAR JIM BARNES: Is there any kind of rule of thumb, so to speak, that can be used as a guide in taking your stance as to how far apart the feet should be, and also how far you should stand back from the ball?

ANSWER—No, there isn't any fixed rule, for the reason that all sorts and shapes of people play golf. Of course, any individual player may work out some sort of scheme by which he can tell when his stance is about right, if he is not sure of himself after making a casual observation.

The chief consideration is to see that you stand so that you can swing the club and hit the ball without throwing yourself off your balance. Usually a player with long legs will stand with his feet pretty well apart. The shorter player doesn't need to spraddle so much. On the other hand, the player who stands with his feet too wide apart will find difficulty in turning his body, or pivoting. If you have trouble in this respect, keep experimenting until you get a suitable distance, and then, if necessary, make a mark on the shaft of your club, so that you can check yourself up if you like.

The matter of the distance you stand away from your ball is pretty much the same. Stand far enough away so that you can address the ball with the club in position and at the same time keep your arms well in toward the body. If you tee the ball too far away it will result in a tendency to fall forward on the down swing; if too close, you will probably have a tendency to bring the hands through ahead of the ball, with a slice as the result. You can probably devise some fixed standard to check by, once you get the proper distance.

SARAZEN MEETS HAVERS IN GOLF CONTEST TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 24.—Gene Sarazen, professional golf champion of America, and Arthur G. Havers, open champion of Great Britain, will meet here tomorrow. The match is for 72 holes, 36 of which are to be played here at the Lake Merced Golf and Country club and the remainder at the Hillcrest club of Los Angeles Sunday.

Both spent this afternoon trying out shots on holes where they had experienced trouble when playing the Merced course recently. Sarazen went out with Joe Kirkwood, and Havers with James H. Hadden, his teammate.

Later Sarazen and Havers met at the clubhouse and looked over each other's clubs and agreed that all sticks were strictly ethical.

BARNES TO QUIT AS PELHAM PRO

New York, Jan. 24.—"Long Jim" Barnes, professional at the Pelham Country club for three years and one of the nation's leading golfers, today announced that he would not renew his contract at Pelham, which expires April 1. Barnes did not state whether he had any other club in view. He was the open champion in 1921.

Hicks Passes Semi-Finals of Miami Golf Tournament

Miami, Fla., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Leonard Hicks of Chicago, whose golf here this week has been one of the features of the annual midwinter tournament, the Country club, continued his good work in today's semi-finals by beating T. W. Palmer, Florida state amateur champion, 2 up. In the other semi-final match Fred Knight, Philadelphia star, eliminated Royal Gill of Baltimore, 5 and 4.

Langford Is Defeated

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Chris Dunphy of Washington earned the semi-final in the Lake worth golf championship this morning, when he defeated William B. Langford of Chicago, holder of the title in 1921 and 1922, 7 and 5.

Leland, Charging Church Deacons Tricked Him to Save Pastor, Retells Story of Wife's Confession

LELANDS BARE THEIR TRAGEDY BEFORE THE LAW. (1) The Rev. H. C. Leland, father of Albert R. Leland who seeks divorce and names pastor; (2) Albert Leland, and (3) Mrs. Charlotte Leland, who confesses to having sinned with pastor. (Story on page one.)

REPENTANT AND FIRM OF FAITH. Mrs. Charlotte Leland, branded by her own confession, sits a silent witness to the court drama in which she is the central figure. (Story on page one.)

"I WANT ONLY JUSTICE TO BE DONE." Albert R. Leland as he appeared while telling of Mrs. Leland's confession. He charged the church deacons "double crossed" him. (Story on page one.)

ACCUSED PASTOR AND HIS WIFE. The Rev. Carl D. Case, pastor of the First Baptist church of Oak Park, and Mrs. Case, as they appeared in court. Dr. Case denies Mrs. Leland's story. (Story on page one.)

GIRL'S NAME KEPT OUT OF HEARING. Judge Foell sustains objection to bringing Miss May Brown into Leland's testimony. Miss Brown and her mother are seen leaving courtroom. (Story on page one.)

"MY STORY'S TRUE." This was Charlotte Leland's attitude at divorce hearing. (Story on page one.)

"FORGET IT." Leland testifies that was advice of C. S. Burton, church leader pictured above. (Story on page one.)

"SHE'S SANE." Dr. Thor Rothstein, alienist, testifies to this view of Mrs. Leland. (Story on page one.)

DAWES' COUNCIL ON REPARATIONS. Photo was taken at its first session in Paris. Left to right: F. Flora and Dr. Pirelli of Italy; M. Alix and M. Parmentier of France; Charles G. Dawes and O. D. Young of the U. S. A.; Sir Robert M. Kindersley and Sir Josiah C. Stamp of England, and Emile Francqui of Belgium. (Story on page eleven.)

POMP MARKS OPENING OF ENGLISH PARLIAMENT. An anomaly of present day England is pictured. The country is ruled by a labor socialist government, but when parliament opens the king and queen arrive in the state coach with all the pomp of the past. (Story on page one.)

FALL'S ACCUSER. Senator Caraway, who leads attack on Teapot Dome scandal. (Story on page one.)

MABEL'S FRIEND. Mrs. Edith Burns, who was housekeeper for Mabel Normand. (Story on page one.)

CALM BY FAITH. Mrs. Leland lowers her eyes as husband tells of her confession. (Story on page one.)

DISPUTE MYSTERY WILL. Attorney Charles C. Roe (at left) and his client, Charles E. Miner, who makes claim to estate of Edwin B. Jennings. (Story on page one.)

FRENCH AID TO CALM EUROPEWant Germany in World League.

BY JOHN STEELE

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—[Tribune Radio.]—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has lost no time in tackling the thorniest problem in British foreign affairs, that of relations between France and Great Britain. The Tribune was informed today by a high authority that Mr. MacDonald authorized Dr. Edward Benes, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, who left London yesterday, to approach Premier Poincaré with a suggestion for immediate action regarding British and French cooperation on the question of reparations and a settlement of European problems. Mr. MacDonald suggests the following principles to govern an agreement:

Admittance of Germany to the league of nations.

The question of the security of France to be governed by the covenant of the league, supplemented by special British guarantees.

Sympathies with Germany.

Dr. Benes had several conferences with Mr. MacDonald and Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Poincaré, and is fully familiar with their views on the future settlement of Europe. It is said that Mr. MacDonald, while sympathizing deeply with Germany, is not disposed to be too favorable to a German government run by Hugo Stinnes and other profiteers.

In this connection it is important to note that Lord Grey made some suggestions as to Germany joining the league and of Great Britain guaranteeing the French security in a speech in London yesterday. The Tribune learns that this speech was made after a consultation with Lord Parmoor, member of the new cabinet, and the new British representative to the league of nations.

Opposes Revolution in India.

The statement of policy sent by Mr. MacDonald to India and dated Jan. 6 is being published tomorrow. The statement, which may be taken as an enunciation of the labor government's attitude towards the Swaraj agitation, says:

"During all my political life I have anchored myself firmly upon the conviction that if progress is to be well rooted it can be carried on only by what is called political or constitutional ways. I can see no hope in India if it becomes the arena of a struggle between constitutionalism and revolution. No party in Great Britain will be moved by threats of force or by promises designed to bring the government to a standstill and if any sections of India are under a delusion that that is not so, events will very sadly disappoint them."

I would urge on all our best friends in India to come nearer rather than to stand apart from us and to set at our reason and good will. I know that the approach and good will should be mutual. My appeal, therefore, is not only to the Indians, but the British as well.

Receives the Ambassadors.

Mr. MacDonald spent today formally receiving the ambassadors at the foreign office, and Monday he will receive the ministers.

An act symbolical of the new régime in England was embodied in an order given by the MacDonald government tonight to have the wooden barricades at the entrances to Downing and King Charles streets removed.

These barricades, which for some three years have been an eyesore to all passers along Whitehall, were erected during former Prime Minister Lloyd George's coalition régime as protection for government offices and houses from violence from mobs of unemployed.

Rail Strike Shuts Factories.

Slightly improved service was reported on the fifth day of the strike of British locomotive engineers and firemen, but the situation in several large industrial centers is far from reassuring. More factories have curtailed their output and others have closed down. Unless coal is delivered over the week many more will not open on Monday.

Dawes Considered Ruhr as German.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The committee of experts headed by Gen. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago is considering the Ruhr as a part of Germany and as a part of Germany's revenues, it was revealed today when while examining the railway question the experts included the Ruhr and Rhineland.
